

Quarterly Report – Journal – March 2024

The eTeam recently published and distributed the March Journal (245) and so far it has been met with pleasure and interest with some articles leading to some good discussions amongst Society members. As it was my first Journal as editor I was very pleased with the results.

Thanks go to the eTeam members and to Jane Ison in particular who, despite the need to step out of the editor's role took over the layout work for 245 while Noelene Lowes was overseas. This was much appreciated for a 'green' editor!

We are now planning Journal 246 (Medical Matters) and have a surprising amount of material in hand before we have even held our planning meeting. Even more surprising, we have already been notified of two items being prepared to Journal 247 (Down 't Pit).

We look forward to another enjoyable year of Journal production.
